

Download Accounting Techniques In Korea 18Th Century Archival Samples From A Non-Profit Association In The S

seong ho jun academy of korean studies and james b. lewis university of oxford. accounting techniques in korea: 18th century archival samples from a non-profit association in the sinitic world seong ho jun and james b. lewis (2006) accounting techniques in korea: 18th century archival samples from a non-profit association in the sinitic world. Request PDF on ResearchGate | Accounting Techniques in Korea: Eighteenth-Century Archival Samples from a Non-Profit Association in the Sinitic World | Little is known about pre-1900 East Asian ... Abstract: Little is known about pre-1900 East Asian accounting techniques. A double-entry method of accounting may date from the 11th century in Korea, but extant commercial ledgers are no older than 1854. However, extensive accounts of cooperative associations survive from the early 18th century, Accounting Techniques In Korea 18Th Century Archival Samples From A Non-Profit Association In The S.

Other Files :