Series 24 Test Practice

In this video lesson, you will learn how the Maclaurin series is a special case of the Taylor series. You'll also discover what some common Maclaurin series are for functions such as  $e^x$  and  $\sin x$ . The first thing we should try to figure out is the rule for this series. I know that this is a geometric series because each term is multiplied by 2 to find the next one.  $5 * 2 = 10$ ,  $10 * 2 = 20$  ... The study plan displays your entire learning roadmap in one place, links you to each study item you will need to access along the way (video lectures, practice question sets, and final exams), and tracks your progress and performance with each item for true visibility.
